I have a vCenter compute resource set up, when I run the associate VMs command, I get an error with message:

Oops, we're sorry but something went wrong undefined method `port' for #<RbVmomi::VIM::VirtualEthernetCardLegacyNetworkBackingInfo:0x00000002d4bd20>

I've uploaded the foreman debug tarball to http://debugs.theforeman.org/foreman-debug-MRPzp.tar.xz

The full stack trace is:

I have a customer who has the same problem with Red Hat Satellite 6.3.2 (which is based on Foreman 15.6 and Katello 3.4.5). Unable to reproduce the issue on my CentOS 7-based lab (Foreman 1.17.1, Katello 3.6.0) - so it seems like it was already fixed.

I also posted more details and the full stacktrace in the Foreman board:

Can somebody confirm or elaborate on this?

Best wishes,
Christian.

Chris, the fix in fog-vsphere is not enough, we need to bump the dependency and update the package in foreman-packaging. Reopening.

This was merged as part of https://github.com/theforeman/foreman-packaging/pull/3101#pullrequestreview-167292704

I'm marking 1.21.0 as where this was fixed.
