ActiveRecord unique constraints might not be properly enforced when Foreman is run in multiple processes due to "Time of Check - Time of Use" errors.
All unique constraints should also be enforced by database index constraints which will prevent invalid duplicate entries.

I can see both the subtasks are completed, should we close this tracker?

Tomer Brisker wrote:

ActiveRecord unique constraints might not be properly enforced when Foreman is run in multiple processes due to "Time of Check - Time of Use" errors.
All unique constraints should also be enforced by database index constraints which will prevent invalid duplicate entries.

good point, closing this one.