Description

We need to either downgrade redux-form or upgrade react-redux. This is currently breaking nightly builds. Not sure why this only breaks in production and not in development. See https://github.com/erikras/redux-form/issues/4388

Not sure why this only breaks in production and not in development.

This in fact only breaks packaged based rpm, it does work fine on npm based production.

I'd say the fact it works in npm based install is actually the problem, since the two versions are in fact incompatible and we should have caught this in development rather than only after rpms are built.

npm based install has react-redux 5.1.1 while packaged version is 5.0.7. when running `npm install react-redux@5.0.7` the same error is present in development as well.

I wonder what the difference is, as I have npm install the project (from clean env) and the bookmark form functionality does work as expected...

react-redux 5.1 seems to be compatible - https://github.com/reduxjs/react-redux/commit/1b43aaa86d89144bfe2ef72db095f69d7944c2#diff-4a5613618665a8e6d0758088bf7cddd8dR92 is the change that prevents this failure.
