Hammer CLI - Bug #6159

Description

1. create image inside compute resource
2. create a compute profile for that resource referencing the attribute
3. update the image in compute resource

The image_id attribute in compute profile for the resource still contains the old value, which can lead to "Selected image does not belong to" error messages when validating host.

Expected: the value for the image (and potentially other references) get updated in compute profile.
